

NO ON IP 28

CRIMINALIZING RECREATION ACTIVITY AND FOOD PRODUCTION

IP 28 significantly expands those laws by criminalizing the following activities that involve the killing and injuring of animals:

- Hunting
- Fishing
- Food Production
- Pest Control
- Husbandry

CATASTROPHIC FOR OUR ECONOMY FROM THE COAST TO THE DESERT

- IP 28 wouldn't just put fisherman, farmers and ranchers out of business, it would cause local food processors to close, impact farm suppliers, restaurants, transportation companies, distributors, farm workers, retailers, all the way to the grocery store shelves.
- Some of Oregon's most significant industries would be crippled, costing valuable jobs throughout the state.
- The reduction in supply will drive up consumer costs. Beloved Oregon dairy, chicken, beef and other brands would be out of the market all together.
- Our outdoor recreation economy including retailers, guides, and outfitters would take a severe hit with the prohibition on killing deer, elk, fish and other species.

DETRIMENTAL TO THE ENVIRONMENT

- Complete reliance on out-of-state meat, dairy, and poultry products will result in a net increase in carbon emissions for feeding Oregonians.
- Local governments, homeowners, schools, parks, golf courses, and other community resources would be left with little or no way to address invasive species from insects to rodents or to manage predators and wildlife, potentially causing ecological harm and damage to property, pets, livestock, crops and other valuable assets.

IP-28 IS EXTREME AND OUT OF TOUCH

RISK TO FOOD SUPPLY

Banning all killing or slaughter of animals within Oregon would decimate the local food supply. Any operations, whether a small family farm, a few backyard chickens, larger dairies that create our most famous brands or taking wild birds, fish, or game for meat would make Oregon completely reliant on out-of-state production of meat, eggs and dairy products.
